Protect Your Hands!

Working in cold and damp conditions, whether it be on the job site, in the forest felling trees, deep in a mine, or even inside an unheated warehouse, is a proven factor that quickens the onset of conditions caused by vibration and deepens their severity. These conditions include Hand-Arm Vibration Syndrome and White Finger Disease (Raynaud's Phenomenon). Repetitive motion weather working on an assembly line, at a computer, or with power tools can lead to Carpal Tunnel Syndrome while repetitive movements can also generate conditions such as Tendonitis.

Note This is a support product only and should not be considered a remedy for any conditions. Consult your physician for treatment and advise on any medical conditions.
